

Soc. 4.01. 2 Germany
Who's Who in the CIA?

MILWAUKEE, WISC.
JOURNAL

E-366,398
S-556,699

JUL 21 1968

Reading and Writing

The CIA: A Communist Tour

By LESLIE CROSS, Journal Book Editor

TO MANY Americans, the CIA is a thing of shadow and infinite mystery, but the view of it from behind the iron curtain seems to be more prosaic.

From Communist East Germany, Publisher's Weekly received a form letter the other day announcing the publication of a book "sure to be of special interest and use value for publicistic work." Its title is "Who's Who in CIA?" and it is described as containing 600 pages with biographical data on "2,500 people on the pay roll of the US intelligence service, both civil and military branches, in 120 countries."

The work, says the letter, should be especially useful to "the conscientious journalist." It is printed on India paper, bound in leather, and may be purchased for $2.50 from Deutscher Buch-Export und-Import GmbH, based in Leipzig.

* * *